NEVER TOO MUCH SERVICE

REDWOOD CITY saw this week the formation of its second service club; this time an Exchange Club.

About three years ago a Kiwanis Club was formed in Redwood City and for many of the business men of this city that formation marked a new era in social and business relationships. What the Kiwanis Club has accomplished in Redwood City can hardly be stated in words. Its influence has been subtle and potent. The creation of a greater interest between merchants in different lines of business, a more cordial co-operation between competitors, a more human understanding, these have been a few of the results of Kiwanis service. The service club instills into the business life of a city the intimate acquaintance and interest of life in the small town, and adds to this a spirit of harmony and good feeling which, too often is lacking in a small community.

We know what Kiwanis has done for Redwood City. Men who before its formation were strangers, or had a mere acquaintance are now fast friends; call each other by their first names and stop in the street to exchange notes or a friendly greeting.

Nearly every man has qualities which will make him a good friend if you know him. It is this knowledge of the best in other men which makes clubs of this type such a powerful influence in a community.

When we think of what the Kiwanis Club has accomplished in the past three years alone, we can expect wonderful changes within the next three years with two such clubs at work in our community. There is plenty of field for service, and if the new organization gets the spirit of service from the very beginning, its future is secure.

Welcome Exchange Club. We wish you every success in the world.

UNATTRACTIVE AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS?

IN an Associated Press dispatch from Moscow under date of February 5, Leon Trotsky, in a speech comparing Russian and American newspapers is quoted as saying to an audience of Russian workers:

"It is scarcely possible to find anything less attractive than the contents of the average American newspapers. But American editors have the faculty of giving their readers just what they desire."

Yes, and they will continue to do so, and also give the American people their editorial opinion, on matters which would not please the Bolshevik leader. Naturally American newspapers are unattractive to Mr. Trotsky, for he has no power to muzzle them and control their comment, as he has in Russia.

America is the nation it is today because it has 20,000 publications for 110,000,000 people and everybody can read. Bolshevik dictators cannot exist in such a nation because there is no chance to fool millions of uninformed persons.

The quickest way to bring stability to Russia, would be to ship in a lot of good American printing presses and American editors and let them discuss conditions as they found them, unhampered by the crushing hand of Bolshevik officialism.

Naturally, these would be "unattractive" papers to Mr. Trotsky because every one that was printed would shorten the reign of terror, and hasten the day of peace, plenty and education for the Russian people.

Let America be thankful that it has thousands of newspapers that are extremely unattractive to Mr. Trotsky and his supporters.

WE FEEL THAT WAY, TOO

GREEN fields
 Blue skies
 Bright flowers
 Babbling brooks
 New suits
 New loves
 New paint—

And new resolves for the year's achievements.

What are we talking about? Spring, of course, stupid. What else are you thinking about yourself, if you're at all responsive to the annual miracle of the world's rebirth in progress all around you? What else, if you are capable of finding an interest in the marvel of a curling breaker on a sunlit beach, or the wonder of a curling ringlet on some fair feminine cheek?

That same itch to knock off work; that same itch to forget office cares and go fishin'; that same urge to go vagabonding down the highway is felt by all of us—somewhat.

If we are young enough, it is likely to find expression in the new suits and new loves hereinabove referred to. If we are old enough to be beyond such things (there may be some so old!) it is likely to find expression in more sober ways.

BEAUTIFUL WORK

WE received this week a copy of the San Francisco Chronicle's Progressive California. The work consists of several sections of rotogravure illustrations of interesting views about the state, and as its predecessors of former years, is truly a work of art. San Mateo county, with its beautiful vistas and extensive industrial and agricultural areas contributes much to the beauty of illustrations in this number of Progressive California.

The Chronicle is to be congratulated in turning out so fine a number, and in the conception of a project so well calculated to advertise and create interest in our state as California in Rotogravure.

BIGGEST SINGLE SHIPMENT OF WASHING MACHINES

The biggest single shipment of washing machine ever made in the history of the industry has just been brought into California by the California Maytag Distributors and J. C. Draper Company with headquarters at Woodhams Furniture Store, local dealer for Maytag Washing Machines has just received his portion of the big trainload.

A solid trainload of 41 cars of Maytags made up the order and a big celebration was staged on the arrival of the train in California this week. A total of over 4200 washing machines made up the purchase, which had a total value of over a half million dollars.

California dealers point with particular pride to the accomplishment of making the biggest purchase of washing machines in the world. In the first place it shows the importance which this state has attained as an industrial and merchandising center, outstripping even the older and more densely populated states of the east because of the better buying power of its people.

Secondly it shows the keen discernment of California women in choosing so preponderantly a washing machine of such distinct advantages as washing cleaner in half the time, washing collar and cuff bands without rubbing, the use of a seamless, cornerless aluminum tub to wash more easily the dirtiest fabric and which cleans itself in 30 seconds, along with many other exclusive features.

Thirdly this big shipment is a tribute to the liveliness of the Maytag dealers and the thorough service they render their customers.

An interesting comparison was made of this trainload shipment by J. C. Draper Company, located in Woodhams Furniture Store, local Maytag dealers, who stated that if all the Maytag washers contained in this trainload were stacked one on top of the other they would make a pile higher than Mount Whitney, the highest mountain peak in the United States. Some of these Maytag washers are now on display at the show rooms of the local Maytag dealers, who are also making free demonstrations in the homes of many local families.

Pioneer in District

The first white man authentically known to have set foot on the soil of the District of Columbia was Capt. Henry Fies, an English mariner and trader, who made an expedition up the Potomac in 1632 to buy beaver furs from the Indians. He anchored six miles below the falls of the Potomac.

Food Combinations

Most people know how good red currant jelly is with mutton, but few have tried prunes with roast veal. This is a common dish in Sweden, where food combinations are carefully studied. Mutton with prunes seems unappetizing to us, but you will often find it relished in Belgium.

Fear Dominant

A famous English novelist says the public's favorite fiction is mystery stories. The reason, she says, is that they affect our most sensitive nerve—that of fear. That sounds logical, for certainly respond to fear as to no other sensation. Think it over and see if you don't agree.—Tusculum News

Always Lightning

The meteorological office of the British government states that the world experiences annually 16,000,000 thunderstorms, or an average of 44,000 a day, and that scarcely a second passes, year in, year out, winter and summer, that there are not at least 100 lightning flashes somewhere in the world.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE EXPLAINS BOND ISSUES TO BE VOTED UPON AT ELECTION OF APRIL 12

On April 12th, the municipal election will be held and one of the most vital problems concerning Redwood City to come before you will be the bond issue for the extension of Broadway.

In order that the voters may be informed as to the need for the extension of Broadway from Main Street to Chestnut Street, what the result will be and the benefits to be derived, how it is proposed to finance the project and what the cost will be to the taxpayers is herein given in so far as possible.

The cutting through of Broadway has been under consideration for a number of years but it was never put up to the voters for a decision before, for the reason that the real need of this improvement was not as apparent as it is today.

The outer harbor or water front development is progressing quite rapidly and if each of you could inspect the plant of the Pacific Portland Cement Co. and see what a wonderful plant they have and also visualize the possibilities along the water front for plants or factories to locate there then you might the better realize what development can do for our city.

How many of you actually know what industries are located in Redwood City? To a very great extent the water front section is the district that will be developed along industrial lines. Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and some of our citizens we have had encouraging support from the U. S. Engineers relative to harbor dredging and development. If these efforts are to receive the support of the citizens of Redwood City, then it is felt that the extending of Broadway is very important to both, the industrial section and the business districts, as it will then give direct access to and from same.

The various residential sections will also be brought closer to the industrial area through this extension. While it is true that the harbor front can be reached by other streets, never the less it is a fact that it is a round about way and means a certain amount of lost time each day to those that have to make many trips daily.

There are many acres of land lying east of the present proposed extension that are undeveloped and one of the main reasons is that these lands are in a secluded section, have no business outlet, and therefore lie dormant on that account but if this connection is made then there is no question but that buildings will be erected and it will mean greater development for our city.

You are all more or less familiar with the present State Highway condition in so far as traffic is concerned. You are also aware of the great need for another highway and the proposed route runs east of our city and it is conceded that there is no question but that this Bay Shore Highway will eventually be built and unless Broadway is extended, there will not be a direct route into the business section of our city and traffic will pass along on the eastern outskirts without knowing that there is a Redwood City in existence. If we are not ashamed of the city in which we live then let it be known that we have a city that is alive and a good place to live in.

The Dunbarton Bridge of which Redwood City should be justly proud, will be completed before many months and the traffic that will come and go over the bridge will pass through Redwood City and principally over the Bay Shore Highway when completed and unless we have the direct route into our city they will pass us by. We cannot expect all of them to stop but some are sure to do so if it is easy of access.

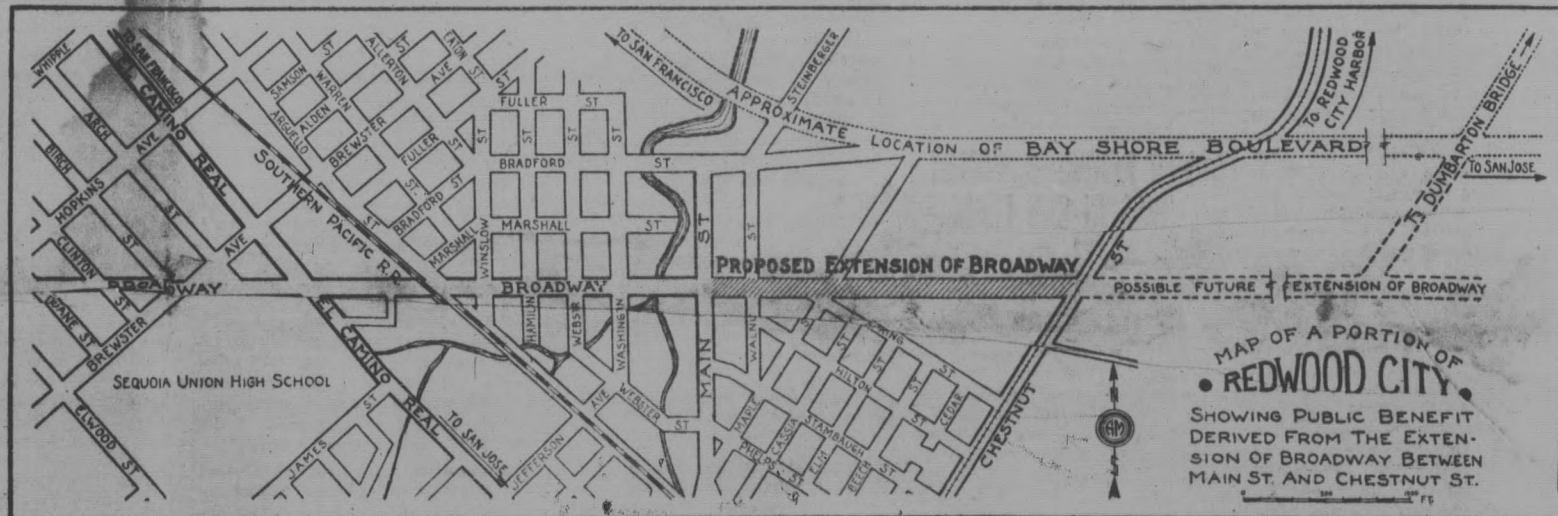

The committee recently appointed on the Extension of Broadway after careful study recommended that Broadway be opened from Main Street to Chestnut Street on a line straight with the present Broadway line, the new portion to be opened to be 85 feet wide. They estimate that the cost of this opening from Main Street to Spring Street would be 90,000 dollars and suggest that one-third of the cost or $30,000.00 be raised by a bond issue of the whole city and the balance by direct assessment against the property adjoining or adjacent to the improvement.

In order to correct a false report which is being circulated, this is to say that the $90,000 will pay for the purchase of the property between Main St. and Spring St., and will also pay the cost of paving this block. The $30,000 bond issue is to pay the one-third portion of this cost and the other two-thirds will be borne by the owners of property adjoining or immediately adjacent thereto and the tax payers as a whole will not be called upon to pay any portion of the $60,000. The street from Spring to Chestnut will be constructed and paid for through an assessment district and not by the general tax payers.

The Bond issue which you are called to vote on, is for $30,000 and under the present assessed valuation of $6,564,749, it would cost each property owner only seven and four-fifths cents on each $100 of assessed valuation for the first year and the cost would decrease each year on account of partial payments being made each year on the bonds. For the whole ten-year period, you would be called on to pay in the total aggregate only fifty-eight cents on each $100 of assessed valuation based upon the present assessed valuation of the city, and this would naturally increase each year through more buildings being erected and it would cut the tax down proportionately. If your property is assessed at $1,000, you would be called upon to pay 75 cents taxes the first year or the aggregate sum of $5.80 for the whole ten years.

The above figures are based on the bonds being issued for a ten-year period, $30,000 principal and interest being paid each year. Any argument to the effect that the taxes would be so high if these bonds were issued cannot have any great weight, as the above figures will show the cost to the tax payers being very small each year.

CAN we as sound thinking voters honestly say that it is not good business to invest 7 4/5 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation the first year or a total of fifty-eight cents in ten years in order that this proposition may be put over?

Old Article of Furniture

A lowboy is a small table with one or two rows of drawers, so called in contradistinction to the tallboy or double chest of drawers. Both were favorite pieces of furniture in the Eighteenth century in England and America. The lowboy was generally used as a dressing table, but occasionally as a side table.

Adapted to Dry Regions

Mimosa is a species of plant, known as the sensitive plant, because of its sensitive leaves. The sensitivity of the leaves is thought to be related to protection against excessive loss of water and is an adjustment to dry regions. This remarkable power enables the plant to control its leaf exposure according to its needs.

ST. PATRICK DAY AIR PREVAILDS KIWANIS CLUB

As the regular weekly meeting of the Redwood City Kiwanis club fell upon St. Patrick's day this week the meeting was given an artistic Irish air by green table decorations and Irish songs. The chairman of the meeting was County Assessor Dan Flynn, and his daughter, Miss Mary Flynn sang two Irish songs. Miss Flynn is a talented singer with strong sweet voice and her numbers were much appreciated.

Rev. C. E. Kennedy gave a short talk on St. Patrick and on the history and traditions of Ireland's patron saint. The main speaker of the day was Principal Argo of the Sequoia Union High School, who told of the work of that institution and of the accomplishments which had been made there.

WILLIAM HAMMERSON WEDS IN THE SOUTH

William Hammerson surprised his many friends here last Monday by the announcement of his marriage to Miss Lucile Chandler of San Francisco. The ceremony took place in the southern part of the state.

Hammerson, who is a salesman for Holbrook, Merrill and Stetson of San Francisco, is a brother of Mrs. John Poole and has been staying at the Poole home here for a number of years. Mrs. Hammerson is a San Francisco girl but has visited here several times since her engagement to Mr. Hammerson.

THE MODERN TELEPHONE EXCHANGE HAS GROWN FROM HUMBLE BEGINNING

The new building of the New York Telephone Company in New York City to house eight large central offices—the first telephone exchange opened in Boston in 1877.

It is a far cry from the first telephone exchanges when telephone service was being born to the modern exchange building which might be termed the solar plexus of the telephone body. Probably no other part of an American city's equipment is as sensitive and efficient as a telephone exchange. The first exchange for telephone service came into existence in Boston in 1877. It was the tiny offspring of a burglar alarm business operated by E. T. Holmes and was located on the top floor of a building at 342 Washington Street. By day it served as a communication system, connecting six banks; by night it became a burglar alarm system. This was the first telephone exchange in the world, but it was strictly a private exchange. The first commercial telephone exchange originated in New Haven, Conn., in January of 1878. In these early days of the telephone, the exchanges were as near the roof of the buildings in which they were located as possible, for at that time all circuits entered the buildings which served as exchange by way of the roof. A frame structure which was subject to damage from weather conditions was erected on the roof to support the wires, and during the first two years of the telephone's commercial existence very few poles were erected, most of the wires being strung on house tops and walls.

Nowadays, in the larger communities, telephone wires are in underground cables, and instead of entering the central offices by way of the roof they pass into cable vaults without being exposed to the vagaries of the weather and emerge in what is known as the terminal room on their way to the switchboard. A striking example of the evolution of the telephone exchange building is the new building now being completed in New York City by the New York Telephone Company. This building will house the largest telephone exchange in the world. It will provide office space and room for eight full size central offices capable of serving 120,000 stations in the downtown section. In fact, it will house more telephone equipment than is found in some entire European countries. Along its walls and through its floors will course the greatest quantity of telephone wiring ever assembled in one building. There will be more than 165,000 miles of wire, or enough to encircle the globe nearly seven times. Besides being 29 floors in height above the ground, there are five floors below the street level, and in the sub-basement level, and a total of more than 400 lead covered cables, containing 693,000 separate wires.

WHAT PEACE of mind thousands of women would enjoy if they knew that their husbands had made Wills and named this great banking institution as Executor and Trustee!

Women know about the fighting over estates, through reports in the newspapers. They dread possible disputes, personal wrangles and costly litigation.

A TRAINLOAD of Maytag Washers for CALIFORNIA

A Solid Trainload Purchase
41 Carloads of Maytag Washers

$650,000 worth of Maytags, the biggest number of washers of one model and one make ever bought and paid for by one concern in the history of the industry. These 41 carloads have just been brought into California by California distributor. One of the Maytags in this trainload is for you—to lighten your household burdens—to wash for you cleaner and faster, more easily, more thoroughly and with less wear and tear.

Wash Cleaner in One-Half the Time

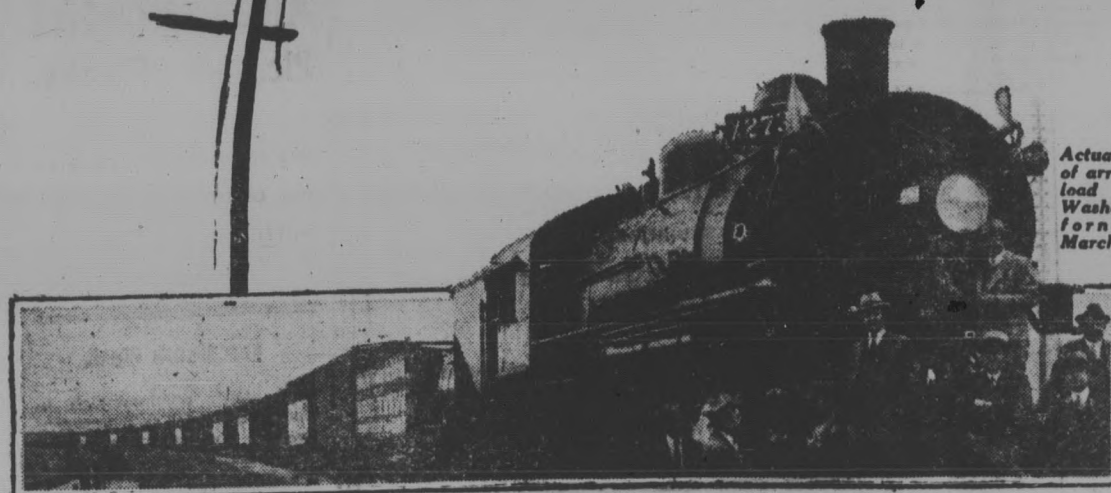

The Maytag gyratator principle has set an entirely new standard of time and cleanliness in washing whole tubfuls in three to seven minutes; anything and everything in ten minutes; a whole washing, fifty pounds of clothes (dry weight) in one short hour. Constant soapier water action in every inch of the tub, all of the time washes out thoroughly the ground-in dirt of work clothes or play clothes.

A Gentleness Unmatched by Human Hands

The cast aluminum tub has no corners, seams, corrugations or crevices to harm sheer silks, fine fabrics or delicate georgettes. While the gyratator principle creates, with ordinary laundry soap, a super cleansing washing solution which is forced naturally through the meshes of the clothes without scrubbing, rubbing, dragging or pounding.

Wash Collar and Cuff Bands Without Rubbing

No need with the Maytag to finish your washing on the back-breaking scrub board. All clothes come out thoroughly clean—neck-bands, collar bands, cuff-bands all as snowy white as you could desire.

LIGHTING "SEA BEAST" STORM OUT AT SEA

During the filming of "The Sea Beast," the Warner Bros. "Classic of the screen," starring John Barrymore and showing at the Sequoia Theatre on Broadway next Monday and Tuesday, March 22 and 23, it was necessary to work almost night and day. The storm sequences had to be finished before the storm abated, so much of the film was exposed at night and at all times the natural illumination available was insufficient.

To remedy this, the greatest amount of electrical machinery and apparatus ever assembled on one set of the Warner Bros. studio, was crowded on to the Three Brothers. This three masted whaling vessel, 220 feet long, was bought especially for this production. Although the Warner studio has an electrical equipment equal in size and up-to-dateness to that of any studio in the world, its capacity was severely taxed because three other productions were being filmed at the same time.

To furnish the enormous quantity of electrical energy to light 22-24 in studio sunarcs of 150 amperes each, 3 powerful 36-in. searchlights with 75 million beam candle power each, 20 150-amp. high intensity spot lights, and 50 35-amp. side arcs beside numerous miscellaneous smaller spotlights, work lights, etc., the gasoline generators with a collective capacity of 5000 amps. from five portable power units, two large gas generators of 750 amps. each, and two large portable motor generator sets of 2200 volts and 300 amps. with a total capacity of 12,500 amps. enough to light a town with a population of from 10 to 15 thousand were used.

For most of the scenes it was necessary to use all this equipment at once, but for two of the large ones every generator worked to its full capacity. All lights had to be firmly nailed, lashed and in every way possible secured to every available support, to keep them from being washed and pitched overboard. When they were to be moved it had to be done very carefully with blocks and tackles and levers. The breakage of lenses, carbons and windows was very high. Taking it all in all, the electrical equipment at the end of the voyage was in a very sorry condition. In spite of the precautions several boards and some boxes of carbon were swept overboard, but the wonderful and authentic storm scenes secured were considered amply worth the extra trouble and expense.

ponse. "The Sea Beast" is the film version of "Moby Dick," the famous Herman Melville story and was adapted to the screen by Bess Meredyth. Millard Webb directed the brilliant cast, which includes Dolores Costello, George O'Hara, Mike Donlin, Sam Baker, George Burrell, Sam Allen, Mathilde Comart and others.

NEWEST IRANIAN FILM FAVORITE Magnificent Costumes and Gorgeous Scenery in "Ibarez' Torrent"

The newest story by Vicente Blasco Ibañez, author of "The Four Horsemen," has been filmed as one of the outstanding screen achievements of the year. In the Cosmopolitan production of "Ibarez' Torrent," playing at the Sequoia Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, March 24 and 25 with Ricardo Cortez, Greta Garbo, and a notable cast. Magnificent costumes, spectacular scenery representing famous opera houses and the royal throne room in Madrid; gorgeous costumes and one of the biggest casts ever assembled on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

The new Cosmopolitan production marks the debut on the American screen of Greta Garbo, famous throughout Europe for the Swedish production of "The Song of Greta Bergling." She was brought to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer under contract and loaned to Cosmopolitan for her first production here.

The story is laid largely in Spain and tells the romance of a peasant girl who rose to fame as an opera star but remained true to the love of her youth, who could not soar to her heights. Her triumphs in London, Paris, Vienna and New York are shown in gorgeous sequences. Intimate details of the lives of several operatic celebrities went into the story, which was scenarized by Dorothy Farnum.

Monta Bell, director of "Lights of Old Broadway," directed the new picture, and the cast includes Gertrude Olmsted, Tully Marshall, Arthur Edmund Carew, Martha Mattox, Lucien Littlefield, Mack Swain, Lillian Leigh and other celebrities of the screen.

Y. M. C. A. SECRETARIES RETURN FROM CONFERENCE

Roy A. Hoberger, San Mateo County Boys Work Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. who resides on Edgewood Road, and George Chessum, executive secretary of the Y. M. C. A. returned from Stanley Park Hotel near Santa Barbara late yesterday afternoon. They were in attendance at both the County Work Secretaries' Conference and the Creative Conference of the Y. M. C. A. of California. More than seventy were in attendance at these annual get-togethers.

All the boys' program material and even mens' club program materials were carefully checked over by the various commissions. New ideas were incorporated and changes made in printed matter for the year. Mr. Hoberger was chairman of the "Friendly Indian" Commission and Mr. Chessum was a member of the Leadership Training Commission. Other commissions were those that dealt with "Comrade Program," "Employed Boys," "Young Mens Division," "Brotherhood," Camps, Methods and Promotions.

Reports show that the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Work is growing by leaps and bounds. It is unique in that it has as its basis the development of the boy "four-square," that is Intellectually, Physically, Devotionally (non sectarian) and in Service. The program is so laid out for the clubs. A boy nine years old can start out as a "Friendly Indian," when he is twelve years old he becomes a "Pioneer," at fifteen he becomes a "Comrade," at sixteen he becomes a "Member," at seventeen he becomes a "Leader," at eighteen he becomes a member of the Young Mens Division or the College Y. M. C. A. at 26 he becomes a member of the Y's Mens Club or the Brotherhood. In short it is a club for "boys" nine to ninety-nine years old.

One item of growth might be of interest in this work, the "Friendly Indian Program" which was originated by Mr. Hoberger a little over two years ago and which was adopted by the State Y. M. C. A. of California for boys nine to twelve years of age. Now has more than two thousand members in California with tribes in practically every state in the union and four foreign countries.

BELL HELPS TOWN KEEP A CHECK ON FORD CAR SALES

Every time a Ford car is sold in Brockhaven, Miss., the whole town knows it. For, in a vacant lot adjoining the property of the Laidlaw Motor Company a large bell has been fixed on top of a tower and each time a car is sold, the salesman pulls the bell cord.

This clanging sales record has become a fixture in the daily life of Brockhaven. Clerks in the various business houses speculate as to the next days count and almost everyone in town is virtually keeping books on Ford sales.

One prominent hardware store advertised that it is expected to sell a stove for every peal of the "Ford Bell." With the advent of the Ford price reduction, however, the vicinity of the Ford salesroom resembled the well-remembered Armistice Day and at last reports stores were running a none-too-close second.

HETCH HETCHYBAY SPAN ALMOST READY FOR USE

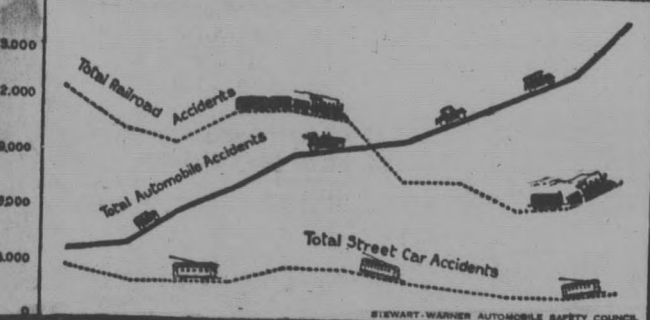

It is expected that by the end of this week the Hetch Hetchy submarine conduit at Dumbarton will be turned over to the Spring Valley Water Company. Owing to unexpected difficulties in making the conduit lie straight in a ditch dug for it at the bottom of the bay, the actual use of it has been delayed for several months.

Under a pressure of 170 pounds it was feared that if the pipe was not perfectly straight it would eventually result in leakage at the joints, which are flexible. Piles have been driven down on each side of the 42-inch main and rock ballast placed on the pipe to anchor it down.

This work, it is reported, is now about completed. The conduit will be used by the Spring Valley Water Company at a rental of $250,000 a year for bringing water from its Calaveras lake in Alameda county to its system of lakes in San Mateo county.

Auto Tragedies Increase as Other Travel Is Made Safer

AUTOS STILL CLIMBING HILL OF DEATH

WHILE railroad tragedies and street car accidents in the United States have gradually been diminishing in the last ten years, the annual toll exacted by automobile casualties is steadily mounting, says the Stewart Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents. Railroad accidents have been cut more than one-third, or from 12,500 in 1913 to 8,073 in 1923, the latest government figures available. Street car fatalities also have been cut down one-third or from 8,000 in 1913 to 2,000 ten years later. Automobile deaths, on the other hand, have increased over five-fold. Against the 3,322 deaths in 1913 we have 16,452 in 1923, and the score is growing each year.

Care, more care and still more care, is the solution of this national problem. The pedestrian must be always on the alert and as spry as a kangaroo, if he is to keep out of harm's way, and the driver for his part must never relax his vigilance for a moment when human lives are at his mercy.

GRANGE ENTERTAINS

Representatives of the Granges of Morgan Hill, Coyote, Gilroy, Campbell, San Jose, Sunnyvale and Mil. View were in attendance Saturday, when the East Palo Alto Grange entertained the Santa Clara County Pomona Grange.

The morning was given to interesting reports from the various granges and from the standing committees. Water conservation was presented, the plan of beautifying the country with flowers was endorsed, legislative and educational matters taken up, a field day decided upon and plans made to entertain the State Grange in San Jose in October.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

"Pigs is pigs" no matter where located, whether on the government reservation or around the lovely hills of the obnoxious. Some months ago a drove of thoroughbred hogs was brought from Stockton and placed on one corner of the base hospital grounds. No objections were raised by the residents of that section, for they knew that the choice pork chops from the herd went to the disabled soldiers. But as the stench on the Ray street was at times stifling, Uncle Sam discovered his error and at once sent word from Washington to remove the hogs. So in a short time everything will be hot and dry in that growing and progressive section.

This week the local stockholders of the William Cluff Company, that recently retired from the wholesale grocery business in San Francisco were made happy in receiving not only the par value of their shares but also an advance of $2.50 per share and interest to date. There are many stockholders of the concern living in Menlo Park.

There is a big republican registration of voters in Menlo Park to date and this is due to the fact that many democrats are changing their registration to that of republican in order that they may be able to vote for their friend and neighbor, Senator S. M. Shortridge, at the primary election in August.

An eastern man was here during the week in search of 600 acres of land to purchase for an industrial site. He made the rounds of all the real estate offices but could not secure what he wanted. This shows how rapidly the land in this locality is being sold and cut up for subdivision purposes.

J. H. Sullivan, the local realty operator, this week bought a block of land at Beresford which he will divide into lots and place them on the market at once. He hopes to dispose them within ninety days. Quick sales and small profits is his motto.

The Menlo Park branch of the National Council of Catholic Women will give a rummage and food sale in the Murray building near the postoffice today. The sale will begin this morning and continue until late in the afternoon. Fancy articles of every description are to be offered for sale and for the cakes and pies, etc., they will be there in abundance. These donations will be for the home, and will delight the most fastidious and will tickle the palates of the most exacting.

The Eagle restaurant changed proprietorship this week, a local concern having taken over the well-known eating house.

From the vast business done by the local postoffice during the past fiscal year it is more than probable that it will be made a second-class office next July. In that event the popular and efficient postmaster, Bernard Larocque, may look for a raise in salary. His accommodating assistant, Elmo Cornelius, may also count on more checks.

Harry Dalton, mine host at the Menlo Park School, has leased a building at the oil station on the corner of the Middlefield and Willows roads and will open an ice cream stand and a short order lunch counter. He has leased the property for a period of ten years. He will continue his position at the school. Harry is an expert caterer and should do well at this corner which is on the direct line of the Dumbarton Bridge approach. He has vision and is preparing to secure the business in that section when the span is finished.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company on Saturday had a number of men here making levels at the square around the depot grounds with a view of making many needed improvements. The center of the square which during the winter months contains a big pond is to be drained and the square is to be rock and macadam put down. This contemplated improvement is hailed with delight by the people of Menlo Park.

Frank E. Caine last week entered suit in the Superior court in Redwood City to secure a court order directing Philip N. Lansdale to turn over to him deeds for the undeveloped portions of a $13,800 tract of land in Menlo Park.

According to the complaint filed by Caine, Lansdale agreed to sell property at Santa Cruz avenue and El Camino Real in Menlo Park to him for $13,800. Later they entered into an agreement whereby either could resell the property to third parties. Caine alleges that each sold portions of the property, and that on the request of Lansdale he gave out a quit claim deed to the undeveloped portion. Caine is now seeking a court order to secure a quit claim deed from Lansdale for the undeveloped part of the property.

Born—At the Palo Alto Hospital, Tuesday, March 16, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Vleet Anderson of Menlo Park, a daughter. The child will be named Patricia Sage Anderson. Her second name is in honor of William McKelvey, president of the city of Menlo Park. Elder Anderson lives in Menlo Park.

The members of the Menlo Park Sanitary Board met at the office of John MacBain in his home last Saturday afternoon and reorganized, electing Joseph A. Donohoe, president; L. H. Cook, vice-president; and P. P. Eyre, secretary. This was the first meeting of the new board. The retiring member, Timothy Hopkins, who leaves with his wife for a European trip on May 8, thanked the members for the kindness shown him while president of the board. Only while president of the board, Timothy Hopkins was transacted. Another meeting is to be called shortly to consider sewer extensions.

A number of the officials of the Wells Fargo Company were here recently and after looking over the field of operations concluded to extend the service of the company so that the Selby tract will be included in the free delivery. Other adjacent territory is also to be taken in very soon. It is understood the company has under consideration the consolidation of the Palo Alto, Menlo Park and Redwood City offices, that there will be one distributing point. All merchandise will be shipped to this place and from there it will be distributed by the respective agents. A big saving of time will be made in this way. Menlo Park being the most central point it is likely to be chosen as the distributing place. The company owns the building here and all the equipment. This will be a large item in its favor.

Mrs. J. E. Cooper is erecting a large addition to her palatial home on Glenwood avenue. A part of the home is to be converted into an apartment house.

Supervisor John MacBain is grading the Sand Hill road from Santa Cruz avenue to the Portola road. It is to be rolled and placed in good condition for the summer travel. The road leads almost direct to the Sequoia Lake, which has become a popular resort. The Sand Hill road is one of the oldest thoroughfares on the peninsula. In the fifties and sixties, it was the direct route from Searsville, then a bustling lumber town, to Mayfield and the Santa Clara Valley. There was no bridge over the San Francisco gulch that forded the stream. Often when it was swollen, travelers had to camp and wait until it went down before resuming their journey. The padres of the Santa Clara Mission often used this road to go to Mission Dolores in San Francisco. Some historians hold that Don Gaspar De Portola used this trail on his way to San Francisco when he discovered the bay in 1769. Other writers maintain that Portola came along the coast from the south, coming down to the Ralph ranch on the Alameda ridge and camping for a time at the old adobe dwelling known as Woodside. From there the expedition skirted the Spring Valley lake to the bay. The route taken by Portola through the county has always been a matter of dispute.

The Menlo Park Parents' Teachers Association held its regular meeting Friday afternoon at 8 o'clock at the grammar school. The association now has seventy-five members, with prospects of several more.

The association voted to give a picture show in the school for the benefit of the Boy and Girl Scouts. Proceeds to be divided equally.

After the business meeting, Mrs. George Angus, Jr., played two piano solos. Roy W. Cloud, superintendent of schools in Redwood City, talked on the early history of California. He told of some of the prominent men of that time, among whom were David Frederick, James King, founder of the San Francisco Bulletin and Senator Stanford. His talk was very interesting and there should have been more out to hear him.

Michael McGee, an old resident of this community, went to the city yesterday to secure a passport preparatory to leaving for his old home in Ireland. McGee was born in 1840 in the land of his birth and amid the scenes of his boyhood. A brother of a boy he left the "old sod" to seek his fortune in the land of the Free and the Home of the Brave and having partly succeeded he now in the evening of life is looking for the distance. McGee wanders back to the Little Green Isle that he may close his eyes on the scenes of his childhood and that his bones may mingle in the fair soil of the country of his ancestors. McGee lives on the land of his adoption, Mr. Michael McGee, for they have demonstrated their devotion to the flag on many a bloody battlefield from the days of the revolution to the world war. McGee is a few weeks will bid farewell to his friends and depart on his long journey to his beloved Little Island by the sea.

In three months from now the Dumbarton bridge connecting Menlo Park with Newark will be completed. This time has been decided upon by the bidders. Then see Menlo Park boom.

Rev. Hugh Montgomery and wife came here from Stockton on Thursday to spend a few days with his former parishioners. That afternoon in the parish hall he gave a lecture on Alaska to a large audience. In the evening he was feted by his friends at a banquet. He expressed himself as well pleased with his visit and was extremely happy in renewing the acquaintance of years ago. He left for Stockton yesterday.

At the election to be held at Atherton on April 12 it is reported that J. B. Corvill will be a candidate for trustee. The old board will stand for reelection.

A young Chinese, "All-Same-Mean," employed up until recently as a cook in the family of Mr. Michael Anderson, last week found checks on his former employer to the extent of a thousand dollars. The Michael left a short time ago for Egypt and before going discharged their cook, who was well known in Menlo Park. He came to town on Saturday and displaying a check for $1,000, supposed to be signed by Michael Anderson, he called on business men, knowing the "chink" at once endorsed it. The city Chinese took it over to the Mercantile Trust Company's bank and cashed it. Shortly he came back and handed the cashier a check signed by Michael for $1,000 and the cashier returned a few minutes previous he then went to the city, where Michael traded and cashed forged checks amounting to over $700. Officers of the law are after the Chinese man but up to date they have not secured a trace of him. The young cashier of the bank says he did not suspect the Chinese, as the Chinese are very rarely charged with forgery and as a race are honest, then too when one of his checks was endorsed by a pioneer business man he supposed the Chinese was known in town and honest.

J. Hanna. Many from here will attend the impressive ceremony as there are a large number of pupils attending the high school from all points of the peninsula. The event will be a big one in the history of the new school.

The directors of the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce held a meeting at Laurel Court last Monday evening at which much routine business

This is the time when the gardens reach the height of their beauty. One of the most extensive gardens on the peninsula is at the W. B. Bourn estate, known as Filoli Farm. Sixteen men are kept constantly employed in the flower garden alone and literally acres of blossoms are to be seen there almost any time of the year. Several acres of lawn about the house has recently been dug out, the soil worked over and re-seeded.
